Queensland border restrictions

The Queensland Government has implemented enhanced border control measures, including border passes and identification screening to help protect Queensland.

Note:

There are changes to border restrictions:

- for people who have been in a NSW hotspot in the last 14 days or since the hotspot was declared (whichever is shorter)
- for people entering who have been in any other part of New South Wales that is not a hotspot after 1am 11 December 2020
- for Queensland residents who have been in a declared NSW hotspot on or since 11 December 2020.

Travelling to Queensland

Most people can travel freely to Queensland unless they have been in a COVID-19 hotspot or in any part of New South Wales.

All road border checkpoints have been removed so motorists can travel freely across state borders however police officers will continue to conduct random interceptions along the Queensland state road borders.

There are restrictions and requirement for anyone who has been in a hotspot, New South Wales or overseas (excluding New Zealand) that wants to travel to Queensland.

Look out for more updates as they come to hand - subject to Qld Gov updates and advice.
